KLUTAS CHIEF OF KIDNAPERS, SOUDER SAYS

Souder Tells Of Plot To "Get Even" With Ex-Sterling Man

BULLETIN
Joliet, Ill., Nov. 11—(AP)—Will county authorities began a search today for Henry Bitters, 45, believed to have been abducted early this morning from his cottage at Shorewood Beach, near here.
The report of one of Bitters' neighbors, Mrs. C. J. Otters, inspired the hunt. She told Sheriff Oliver Flint that two men dragged Bitters from his cottage, beat him and pushed him into their car and drove off.
Bitters was occupying the cottage alone. His wife and son were in Chicago for a visit.
One of the two strangers, Sheriff Flint said, answered roughly the description of "Handsome Jack" Klutas, sought as the brains of the Illinois kidnaping ring which federal and state authorities are rounding up.
Both were tall, one a burly man and his companion more slender, according to descriptions furnished the county officials.
Sheriff Flint said he had no reasons to connect Bitters' abduction with the kidnaping ring, although he offered the theory that the cottage Bitters has occupied for the last eight months may have been used formerly as one of the kidnapers' hideouts.

REYNOLDS FARM YOUTH SHOT IN HIS RIGHT ARM

Franklin Danekas Is Victim Of Unusual Accident At Home

Franklin Danekas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard Danekas of Reynolds township, a student in the Rochelle high school, was the victim of a very serious accident recently, the muscles of his right upper arm being blown away by the accidental discharge of a 12 gauge shot gun, and while he has suffered a great deal of pain as well as the loss of considerable blood, he has been able to resume his studies at the Rochelle high school.
He was engaged in the operation of the tractor in a field at his home when he discovered a large chicken hawk and went to the home for the shot gun. When he returned the big bird had departed and the young man laid the gun on the platform of the tractor, to take it back to the house. When he arrived in the barn yard with the machine, he stepped off the platform in some manner the shot gun exploded. The force of the load caught him below and under the right upper arm, blowing away considerable flesh and tearing away the muscles. He bled profusely from the gaping wound, but was rushed to the Rochelle hospital where the injury was dressed. The young man is one of the outstanding members of the basketball squad of the Rochelle high school and was to have jumped the center position this winter, but his injury has incapacitated him for several months.

PEORIA MEN IN NARROW ESCAPE SOUTH OF DIXON

Auto Crashed Into Moving Freight: Neither Seriously Hurt

George Furst, 611 Bradley avenue, and William Truesdale, 309 Indiana avenue, both of Peoria, narrowly escaped being ground beneath the wheels of a speeding Northwestern freight train on the route 89 crossing three miles south of Dixon last evening about 8:30 and the Chevrolet coach in which they were enroute from Peoria to the Wisconsin-West Virginia football game at Madison today, was completely demolished and was dragged some distance from the crossing after the crash.
Furst, who was driving, was thrown through the top and fully 50 feet from the track into a corn field. His companion was also thrown from the wreckage to a deep ditch along the right of way. Neither was seriously injured and after their cuts and bruises had been dressed at the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital, were taken back to their home in Peoria. Motorists who were driving along the highway about the time of the accident, took both to the hospital.
Ignorant of Crossing
The car, which was completely demolished, was reported to have belonged to the Jobst-Bethard wholesale grocery firm at Peoria. The two young men were driving north on state highway, route 89 at a speed of about 50 miles an hour, they told State Highway Officer Edward Mahan, who conducted an investigation and directed the clearing of the wreckage from the highway and railroad right of way. Not knowing of the crossing Furst did not observe the east-bound train until Truesdale called to him to "look out for the train."
When he applied the brakes the car skidded, and seeing that a crash could not be averted Furst said he presumed that he had headed the machine into the ditch, but that instead it swung around, striking a box car. Both occupants were rendered unconscious by the force of the impact and recalled no other happenings until they regained their senses, one in a corn field south of the track, the other in high weeds in a ditch along the right of way.
No Serious Hurts
Floyd Emmons of Sterling, one of the first to arrive on the scene after the crash, assisted in removing the injured men to the hospital.

Huey's Hoovey Brings Shower Of Eggs And Over-ripe Fruit From Crowd Senator Tried To Address

Alexandria, La., Nov. 11—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long had a suspicion today that not everybody in this city is his friend.
The Senator was the target for a barrage of eggs and over-ripe fruit last night while making a speech on the city hall steps. By dodging, the Senator avoided being hit, but the bombardment caused him to interrupt his speech to call his unseen adversaries "polecats, lowdown pups and scoundrels."
The Senator had just started speaking on new taxes and re-distribution of wealth when two eggs whizzed by his head and smashed on the steps behind. Some oranges and lemons followed, interspersed with stench bombs and more eggs. Several spectators were hit.
Members of Long's bodyguard had an idea the barrage came from office buildings across the square and started to search them. Their entrance to one building was blocked by Clint O'Malley, Chief of Police.

WALLET OWNED BY KIDNAPED SAN JOSE MAN FOUND

Leads To Theory Gang Victim Was Taken Aboard Liner

BULLETIN
San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 11—(AP)—Babe Ruth, former baseball home-run king, and 187 other passengers were held temporarily aboard the Matson liner Lurline after it docked here today while police made an intensive search of the vessel for Brooke L. Hart of San Jose and his kidnapers.
Ship's officers said no trace of anyone answering Hart's description had been found. Police then started their own search.
The search was made as the result of reports from San Francisco that Hart's wallet had been found on a tanker which had fueled the Lurline before the latter vessel departed for San Pedro yesterday, officers believing the wallet may have been hurled from the Lurline.
Officers questioned each passenger. Those aboard were allowed to go ashore one by one after they satisfied police and ship officials that they were in no wise connected with the sensational $40,000 ransom kidnaping.
San Francisco, Nov. 11—(AP)—Discovery of a wallet bearing the name and containing personal cards of Brooke L. Hart, who was kidnaped from San Jose Thursday, was reported to authorities here today.
The wallet, on which Hart's name was engrossed in gold letters, was found on an oil tanker in San Francisco Bay. Authorities said the tanker had been docked alongside the liner Lurline, which sailed for Los Angeles at 12:15 P. M. yesterday.
Los Angeles authorities were requested to search the Lurline when it arrives there on the theory the wallet may have been tossed from the liner.

Loyalty League To Start Feeding Of Children Nov. 20th.

An interesting meeting of the Dixon Loyalty League was held last evening at the city hall, at which time several matters of importance were discussed. Chief among these was the report of the community kitchen committee.
It was decided to begin the feeding of deserving children of the city schools on Monday, Nov. 20. Last year approximately 250 school children were served warm and wholesome food daily from the kitchen and from advance report it is indicated that this number may be considerably increased this winter. The kitchen in its new location has been daily catering to the needs of the less fortunate of Dixon and the major part of the program, the feeding of the school children, will start in another week.
The kitchen committee this morning issued an appeal to any who are interested to donate money and donations of onions, carrots and Navy beans are also solicited. Several voluntary donations have already been received, these being necessary for the continuation of the kitchen program.

Fifteen Years After

MYSTERY WOMAN IS MENTIONED IN HAMM KIDNAPING

Quickens Interest In Trial Which Is Now In Short Recess

St. Paul, Nov. 11—(AP)—Department of Justice agents today hunted the woman of mystery in the Hamm kidnaping case, directing their search to Chicago, home of Toughy gang, four members of which are on trial in federal court here.
George S. Sullivan, United States District Attorney prosecuting Roger Touhy and three henchmen on charges of having abducted William Hamm, Jr., millionaire St. Paul brewer, declared the government did not know who the woman is and has been unable to locate her.
Authoritative sources, however, said the name and telephone number of a girl was found in Touhy's luggage upon his arrest last July in Elkhorn, Wis., following a minor automobile accident.
Reports Finding Clue
Reports that could not be confirmed were that the woman known as "Helen Terry" who once worked as "Helen Terry" who once worked in a restaurant on Chicago's west side, knows who the woman was that lay at the kidnapers' hideout where Hamm was held prisoner.
Information reported placed in Sullivan's hands, said the Terry woman also was believed to know the location of the kidnapers' hideout.
The woman in the case was revealed yesterday for the first time when Hamm's star witness, took the stand for the government.
Court adjourned Friday until 10 A. M. Monday before Hamm had a chance to attempt a description of the woman, who, he said, was at the house when he and his captors drove up to the place, somewhere in Wisconsin, about midnight last June 15.
Points Out McFadden
Eddie "Father" McFadden, one of the defendants, was pointed out by the defendants, was pointed out by Hamm as one of the men who shook his hand and compelled him to enter a closed car after accosting him near his brewery offices nearly five months ago.
George Sullivan, who was mildly reprimanded by Judge Joyce when defense counsel objected to the United States District Attorney's characterization of the Hamm abduction as a "smooth job," told the jury the government would show Willie Sharkey drove the kidnap car; that Roger Touhy, Chicago gang leader, arranged delivery of two ransom notes, and that Gustav "Gloomy Gus" Schaefer was in the party when Hamm was freed near Wyoming, Minn., June 19.

Washington, Nov. 11—(AP)—Comptroller General McCarl ruled today that Henry Ford is eligible to receive government contracts although he has refused to sign the NRA automobile code on behalf of his manufacturing companies.
He held that Ford can be listed as ineligible only if it is proven that he is violating the code and that the burden of proof in that case rests with the government.
Thus, an affirmative statement of adherence to provisions of the code cannot be required of Ford as a

TEXAS RECLUSE IS ACCUSED OF FOUR MURDERS

Charged With Deaths Of Young Farmer And Family

Athens, Tex., Nov. 11—(AP)—Four charges of murder were filed here today against George Patton, 51-year-old recluse, in connection with the disappearance a year ago of J. W. McGehee, 25-year-old farmer, his wife, Carrie, 21, and their two young children.
The charges were filed at the direction of Jess Sweeten, Henderson county Sheriff, who had taken Patton to Dallas for questioning because of threatened mob violence here.
McGehee, his wife and their two children, a boy, 5, and a girl, 2, were last seen Tuesday night before Thanksgiving Day last year. They had lived only a short time on the Patton farm, six and one-half miles south of Athens in a community known as the Sand Flat area.
Squads of men were put to work digging on the farm today in the belief that the bodies of the McGehees were buried there.

AMAZING WEEK IN HOG MARKET OVER; NO SALES

Sellers Refused A Price Below $4.50: Pens Full Of Porkers

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—The hog market closed an amazing week today with no change in the situation, sellers still on strike. For the third consecutive day, commission house salesmen have demanded prices steady with those paid Wednesday and packers have just as consistently refused to pay them.
As a result, 23,000 hogs were locked up in the pens today to be held over for Monday's markets and practically every commission house in Chicago was pleading with farmers through the press, by telephone, telegraph and over the air to halt the movement of hogs to the Chicago market until the strike is settled.
All the good to choice hogs weighing from 180 to 350 lbs., which have been received since Wednesday are yet in the yards except one load of 100 head of lightweight which were sold yesterday to an eastern shipper at $4.50. The major packers have been standing by, reinforced with heavy direct billings but the smaller killers have no such supplies and have been scouring the yards to obtain light lights and packing sows or any other kind of cheap hogs to keep their killing gangs busy.
The producers' representatives are demanding at least $4.50 for their holdings and packers will not bid over $4.35, and that only sparingly.
Commission men say they are out to check the practice of packers buying heavily on farms and shipping direct to their plants and then using their heavy direct arrivals as a means of breaking the prices down.
Rumors are flying around the yards thicker and faster each day the "strike" holds. One is to the effect that the administration has a sympathetic attitude towards the "strikers" and that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace is in constant touch with the situation.

Leslie J. Rees is Called During Noon Hour: Ill Ten Days

Chicago Physician Freed Of Charge Of Murdering A Woman

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—Dr. Frank L. Nathanson, 53-year-old physician, stood vindicated today in a charge of murder by abortion in the death of Mrs. Ruth Baccus, 40, of Stockton, Ill.
A jury in Criminal Court returned the verdict freeing him late yesterday after the state had demanded the death penalty.
Taking the witness stand in his own defense Dr. Nathanson denied performing the operation and said the woman had been operated upon before she came to him for treatment. The husband of the dead woman, Joe Baccus, backed up his testimony. He told the court Mrs. Baccus confessed to him that she committed the operation herself.
The jury returned its verdict after deliberating three hours and 10 minutes.

END OF WORLD WAR 15 YEARS AGO OBSERVED

Tributes Paid In All Cities And Hamlets Of Allied Nations

(By The Associated Press)
The nations paused today to revive memories of a peace which came to a war-torn world fifteen years ago and to honor those who fought and died in the great war.
In many parts of the world millions paid silent tribute to their soldier dead. Activities were brought to a halt at 11 o'clock, the hour at which the World War armistice became effective and which was the signal today for the start of many memorial services.
All over the United States veterans of the world conflict gathered to salute their fallen comrades.
The eternal light in New York's Madison Square was the center of observance in the metropolis with officials of veterans' organizations, the Army and Navy and the city and state flocking to participate in the observance.

In Washington's Tomb

In Washington the President and Mrs. Roosevelt turned toward the tomb of the Unknown Soldier to place flowers there.

England's observance of Armistice centered around the Cenotaph in London where the Prince of Wales, acting for King George, planned to place a wreath in memory of Britain's war dead, while thousands stood in silence.

France mustered a brilliant military display in Paris. A ceremony at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier under the Arc de Triomphe attended by President Lebrun and members of his cabinet headed the program. American war veterans in Paris also marked the day.

Canada marked the anniversary with observances in virtually every city and town in the Dominion.

Mexico observed Armistice Day for the first time since the war ended, the government decreeing two minutes of silence at 10:37 A. M.

The Irish Free State began its celebration last night with a very noisy demonstration in Dublin culminating with the burning of two British Union Jacks on the college green.

Germany and Austria do not observe Armistice Day, but both had special events before them, Germany an election tomorrow, and Austria the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the republic.

"Texas" Guinan Is Back On Broadway, Scene Of Success

New York, Nov. 11—(AP)—"Texas" Guinan came back in a pine box today to the Broadway she once said she would rather have a foot of than all the rest of the world.

It was not the Broadway she symbolized as queen of the night clubs, the Broadway that ends its "day" with the first flush of dawn, but a cold wind swept street that showed patches of early morning sunshine.

A crowd of "sun-dodgers" night club habitués and trouper who knew her in the hey-day of her night-club career, broke tradition and remained up to meet her body as it arrived at Pennsylvania station shortly after 8 o'clock.

The coffin, encased in a plain pine box with white ribbon around it, was placed in a hearse and taken to the Broadway funeral church at 66th Street where the bodies of many celebrities, including that of Rudolf Valentino, have laid in state.

Chicago, Nov. 11—(AP)—A coroner's jury was faced with the task today of deciding whether the death of 14-year-old Richard L. Creedon, Jr., Broadview schoolboy, whose body was discovered hanging from a rope high in a tree near his home, was suicide or accident.
The boy, eldest of five children of Richard L. Creedon, president of the Creedon Carriage Company of Cicero, was missed from his home late yesterday afternoon and it was not until early today that the body was found by Chief Harry Schroeder of the Broadview police department.

Both parents of the youth, overcome with grief, told authorities the boy had no reason to take his life and expressed the belief he had been playing in the tree and in some manner fell with the piece of clothes line rope around his neck.

WALLET OWNED BY KIDNAPED SAN JOSE MAN FOUND

$40,000 ransom for release of the son, Brooke Hart, 22, were vehemently denied by all investigators and members of the family today.
Reed Vetterli, head of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, San Francisco, said late last night:
"Up to the time I left the Hart home a few minutes ago there had been no contact whatsoever with the abductors of Brooke Hart. If there had been such contact in any manner, I would know about it."

Got One Message

The father was as emphatic in denial as were Chief of Police J. N. Black, Sheriff William J. Enig, members of the family and close friends who had been with them all day and evening.
The only communication received, according to all, is the telephone message from San Francisco about 10:30 P. M. Thursday. In this message, Miss Mariam Hart, 19-year-old sister of Brooke, was informed of the ransom price of $40,000, that Brooke was well that further instructions would follow. The girl was warned not to inform the police.

HAD KIDNAP SCARE

Los Angeles, Nov. 11—(AP)—A frantic search throughout southern California for two-year-old Peter Baldwin, son of the General Manager of the local office of the San Francisco Bridge Company, and his supposed kidnappers, ended this morning when the child was found sleeping peacefully in bed with two playmates in the home of a neighbor.
The parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baldwin, had reported the seven had been removed from the back porch to their home while they were away to a motion picture show an their child stolen.
"Little Peter was screaming and shivering in the middle of the street," said Mrs. A. H. Nerad, a neighbor. "That was about 8 o'clock last night. So I ran out and threw a blanket around him and took him into my home."
Police said they would investigate why the woman made no report to them of finding the child.

KLUTAS CHIEF OF KIDNAPERS, SOUDER SAYS

ing $150,000 the first time but buying his freedom for only $1,500 on the second occasion.

Two Others Held

Two other suspects, Julian (Babe) Jones and Gale Swolley, have been held without definite charge despite frantic attempts of attorneys to gain their release on writs of habeas corpus.

Jones today told authorities he entered kidnaping after he, himself, had paid $2,000 ransom to the gang of which he became a member. He named "Handsome Jack" Klutas, University of Illinois graduate, formerly of Sterling, Ill., as the leader of the syndicate.
"I didn't care about the money," he related, "but it made me mad because Klutas slapped me while I was tied. Klutas kept away from me after I joined him, but I had made up my mind to get even."

He told of hiring another member of the gang, Ray Nolan, to betray Klutas into his hands.

Charge Double-Cross

"Nolan double-crossed me," he continued. "I lay in wait for Klutas on a highway near Chicago, and four guys came and tried to kill me. I got away, but I knew Nolan had squealed."
"You remember that Nolan was killed in an auto accident near Joliet a year ago? The police said it was an accident, but it wasn't. He was taken for a ride."

Jones grinned and said, "Why, I should say not," when asked if he had killed Nolan.

Guards armed with machine guns accompanied Souder today as he was arraigned before Police Magistrate Carl J. Carlson in Blue Island. Guards also have been placed about his cell. He stood with downcast eyes and without change of expression when the high bond was set.

Doesn't Like Juries

Handcuffed to two policemen following an arraignment, Souder chatted easily and expounded his theory on trials.
"I believe I'd rather be heard by one man who has intelligence than face a jury of twelve men, none of whom finished the eighth grade of school," he reflected.

"I don't think the jury system is so hot. They go out and bring in a bunch of farmers."
The complaints against Souder gave the dates of Hackett's two abductions as May 1, 1931, and May 29, 1933.

Gale Swolley, one of the men held as a member of the alleged kidnap ring, is well known to Sheriff Fred Richardson and some of his deputies. Thorough the activity of his deputies, Sheriff Stoddard Danekas, of Reynolds township, Swolley was indicted in Rock Island county for his connection in the theft of an automobile belonging to the Assistant Chief of Police of East Moline. Swolley was driving the car on route 70 in the east end of the county when discovered by Deputy Danekas several months ago, and his apprehension resulted. He once failed to appear for trial and forfeited his bond of $3,000. Later he appeared with his attorney and the forfeiture of the bail was set aside and the case continued.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 11—(AP)—Maurice O. Kalahar, Republican State Representative from Bloomington, has written Governor Horner, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, and Commerce Commission Chairman Benjamin F. Lindheimer demanding that buses and trucks be required to operate at a speed not to exceed 40 miles an hour.
The Representative, who said the present law prohibited buses and trucks from going faster than 40 miles an hour, told Horner that unless such action was taken he planned to call the attention of the next session to the situation and see why the law is not carried out.

A Hot Stove Started This in Boston

It took only an hour to bring a blaze on Boston's waterfront under control, but in that time it caused a damage estimated at nearly $200,000. The fire, caused by an overheated stove, is shown at its height as harbor fireboats poured tons of water on the smoking ruins of Central Wharf.

PEORIA MEN IN NARROW ESCAPE SOUTH OF DIXON

Furst was the worst injured of the two, having sustained a three-inch scalp wound and numerous minor cuts and bruises. His companion was bruised and cut about the head and hands.
The auto is believed to have struck the freight near the end of the train. Neither of the young men remembered having seen a headlight or signals on the caboose as they approached the crossing, which is not protected by any electric signal. Roadmaster P. J. McAndrews of Sterling came to Dixon last night when a report of the wreck reached the railroad officials and conducted an investigation at the scene.

A POPPY
THIS poppy pressed within the Book,
Is just a bloom I stooped and took
Away with me, that bitter day,
From where my buddies fell and lay.

"Tis faded now, but then 'twas red
As blood that ran from wounds of dead,
When pierced by shot or thrust of steel,
And flowed to pools to there congeal.

And thus, while they, unmoved as yet,
Lay prone, supine and even sat
In pose devout, a part of mud,
I brought from thence this drop of blood.

A token 'tis of love sublime,
And not unlike the love divine,
And within the Book I keep
The bloom and think and weep.

Recreation Institute At State Hospital

One of the eight recreation institutes which are being held over the state, has been conducted for the past four days in the auditorium at the State Hospital.

Representatives of rural organized groups and churches were in attendance from eight counties: Bureau, Carroll, Ogle, Marshall, Putnam, Stephenson, Whiteside and Lee.

W. P. Jackson, whose services were made available through the courtesy of the National Recreation Association conducts these schools assisted by D. L. Lindstrom of the University staff of extension work.

Lee county was well represented with leaders from 4-H Clubs, Farm Bureau, Home Bureau, and other rural community groups.

Believing that organized recreational activities help remove the emotional tensions caused by economic stress, Mr. Jackson introduced and drilled those present in unique songs, games and folk dances. He described games which are being revived from ancient times and are fast becoming popular in the United States. During the winter these trained leaders will introduce these new songs and games to their own counties.

Dixon Enters Elks National Bridge Tourney Nov. 24th

The Dixon lodge has entered the Elks national bridge tournament, which is to be held simultaneously in Elks Lodges throughout the country on Friday, Nov. 24th. It is the intention of L. R. Evans and Lee Reed, chairmen and their committee, consisting of Mrs. Louis Schumm, Mrs. Vernon Tennant and Mrs. Raymond Worsley, to extend an invitation to every bridge player in the community, men and women, to take part in this national-wide tournament.

This tournament promises to be one of the most novel and interesting ever held. It will be highly educational, for the contest will consist of playing sixteen secretly prepared hands which have been arranged by sixteen of the leading bridge experts of the country. The same authorities have also furnished the analysis of the bidding and playing of these hands. While these hands are all very interesting they are not trick or freak hands.

The committee says this affair should certainly be attended by everyone who thinks they never hold good cards. In this tournament everyone will have the same cards. This should reduce the all-out. A broad shouldered partner should be selected for you keep the same partner all evening. The experts' analysis which is available immediately upon completion of the tournament will provide a thrilling post-mortem and an exceptionally fine bridge lesson.

Handsome trophies are furnished. The national winners have their names inscribed on the Victory Cups and receive replica models of them for permanent possession. The prize winners in Dixon lodge receive local championship emblems. Other attractive prizes (totaling $100 per table) are provided for the runners-up and the aggregate score winners.

Choir Party Honors Miss Edwards

Last evening the choir of the Methodist church was entertained by Mrs. Crawford Thomas at her home in a sort of get-together informal party honoring one of their group, Miss Helen Edwards, who is soon to be married. Mrs. Edwards who possessed a fine musical education and a lovely soprano voice, was for years the leader of the Methodist choir.)

She is soon to be married to Ray Mottick of Chicago. They intend to make their home in Berwyn, a suburb.

ARMISTICE DAY

By HELEN WELSHIMER

Tall brown soldiers marching
In the Flemish sun,
This thing, that thing they would do
When the war was won.

One would plant a garden,
One would keep an inn,
One would span a mountain,
One had tales to spin.

Each would have a small house
Up a hill somewhere,
Each would watch the firelight
On a woman's hair.

You who won a new peace
You could never share,
Do you smile, recalling,
Sometimes, over there

How you marched for-planning
Gallant things to do,
Gardens, books and bridges
When the war was through?

Or are these forgotten
While you keep one spring,
One love, one girl's laughter
For remembering?

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Burbank, who were wedded at the Minkler home, west of Rochelle, Nov. 2, 1882, celebrated their fifty-first wedding anniversary quietly at their home on Tenth Street, Thursday.

At the same time as Mr. and Mrs. Burbank took their marriage vows, her brother, Harmon Minkler, was united in marriage to Miss Ella Van Eman.

Mr. Burbank, member of the firm of Burbank & Sherwood, is a veteran jeweler of this city and was actively engaged in that business for over a half century. He constructed the building in which the Burbank & Sherwood business is conducted, in 1882.

Mrs. Burbank is known as a musician and directed the Methodist choir for many years. She has also attracted the attention of artists because of her many paintings. She has also written a number of poems.

Mr. and Mrs. Burbank have a host of friends in this community who wish them many more wedding anniversaries.

Boys' Class Met; Elected Officers

The Boys' Sunday school class of the Brethren church had a social at the home of their teacher, Roy Plowman, Friday evening. The class has been making rapid growth since Mr. Plowman has been their teacher and promises to be a strong class. A fine spirit prevailed during the social and the boys are enthusiastic over the outlook of the class. The class was organized last night with the following selection:

President, Robert Emmert; vice president, Gene Baker; secretary-treasurer, Harold Brantner. The evening was spent in playing games, stunts and singing. Roy Gleason the assistant teacher is directing the boys in their singing and the boys have promised to furnish us with some special music in the near future.

Mrs. Plowman served the class a splendid lunch which was very much enjoyed. The boys have pledged themselves to be regular in attendance at Sunday school, and expect to soon double the membership of their class.

Makes Gary Doubt Bachelor Bliss

Heart whole and fancy free days are over for Gary Cooper, if the little bird of Hollywood whispers the truth. Sandra Shaw, statuesque beauty, shown here in a striking portrait, has made the film idol forget his bachelor vows, according to friends of the pair, and word of their betrothal is expected soon. Miss Shaw is an actress, niece of Cedric Gibbons, director-husband of Dolores Del Rio.

Observe Armistice Day Woodworth Schl.

Armistice Day was fittingly observed Friday morning at the Woodworth school, by a program at which Mrs. John Davies spoke. There were also patriotic songs and a dialogue by the pupils of the school. Mrs. Davies gave some very interesting accounts of her World War overseas experiences, while all this again and again spoke to her as she was serving as an American Red Cross nurse. The talk was much appreciated by the teachers and pupils. The annual Red Cross drive for memberships is now on. In disaster, in war, in accidents, the peoples of all countries look to the Red Cross for aid and it is always forthcoming.

RUSSIA, A MATTER OF MONEY.

With America recognition of the soviet government of Russia apparently on the way it should be recognized that in this case the deal will be a matter of money and trade relations rather than a matter of sympathy with the soviet form of government. We are in desperate need of export business.

Russians have intimated that they are prepared to place orders for more than 300 million dollars worth of American goods provided they can get credit here—and recognition. Many Americans have been in the habit of dissociating business from diplomacy, and they have been wondering why the Russians can not buy here even without recognition, providing they have the inclination to buy, and if they have either the money or credit. What is the connecting link between recognition and credit? The Russians have bought here in the past, and we have sold to them in the past without diplomatic recognition.

In 1930 the United States exported 136 million dollars' worth of goods to Russia. In 1931 our exports to Russia totaled 118 millions, and in 1932 the figure was 16 millions. The diminishing figure reflects bad trade conditions in general, but still our exports to Russia did not equal, in proportion to total Russian imports, what they did in 1930. Perhaps Russia was applying the screws.

At any rate, our "balance of trade" with Russia during the three years was favorable to the United States. We sold them more than they sold us. In 1930 Russian exports to the United States totaled 21 million dollars; in 1931, 11½ million dollars, and in 1932, 8½ million dollars.

One element to be considered is that the Russian government is in control of all exports and imports. For a private American exporter to do business with the whole ponderous Russian government is difficult and clumsy. So in order to equalize matters, it seems, we must have American business transacted in Russia by the American government.

Another element to be considered is that the Russian government is needing credit. An American business man, wishing to sell goods to Russia, must now sell mostly on credit. He may hesitate to recognize the Russian government's credit on his own initiative as long as the American government refuses to recognize Russia at all. If the Washington administration recognizes Russia the American will feel that he has a sort of bill collector at his back. Just how successful this bill collector might be if Russia should repudiate on some trumped-up excuse remains to be seen. To date we have not been overly successful in collecting what France, Belgium, Poland and other European countries owe us.

There remains also the grand scheme of the United States making a direct credit loan to the soviet, or in other words, signing the soviet's note in favor of American exporters. There probably would be some opposition to this course in this country, in view of the experience we have had in similar dealings with Europe. But already the R. F. C. has made possible the purchase by Russia of 3 million dollars' worth of American cotton in a similar manner. At that rate the Russians can afford to buy of American exporters as long as the credit of the American government holds out.

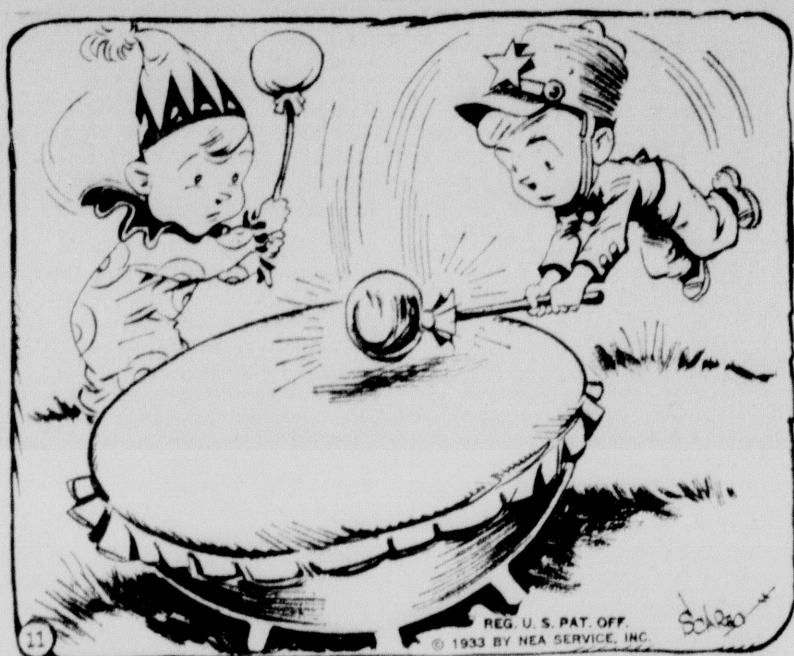

Both England and Italy have had similar diplomatic relations with Russia. They have been somewhat profitable in England's case, but Italy has not felt satisfied. In each case there was some political turmoil. To the credit of the soviet, it has been said that it never has defaulted on an obligation incurred since Stalin gained control. The matter of the so-called war debt owed to the United States remains unsettled. The United States, in the past, has said that one thing Russia should do to help win American recognition was to pay this debt. The Russians, countering, have said that one of the first things they would do, if accorded recognition, would be to take up the debt question.

Maxim Litvinoff, Russia's envoy who talks recognition with President Roosevelt and the state department, is a worthy representative of Stalin and the soviet organization. In the czarist days he was an agitator, an exile, a Marx socialist and general nuisance. He has been arrested in one European country on a charge of possessing stolen money, but disposition of the case seems to have been indefinite. Unlike Stalin, he does not seem to have become a murderer in prerevolutionary days. Most of Litvinoff's diplomatic successes seem to have been attained in connection with commercial treaties. He also has been termed the most snubbed statesman in the old world.

The Thunder Man looked very cross. The Tynymites were at a loss to know just what to do. And then the man began to shout.

"What was the reason, girls and boys, for making such an awful noise? I am the one who makes the thunder. What's it all about?"

"Well," Scouty said, "we're Tynymites. We travel around to see new sights, and when we meet your little helpers, we found out that you lived here."

"Wee Rattle said that we could meet you and we thought it would be a treat. Then Rumble told us that there wouldn't be a thing to fear."

"And so you youngsters woke me hey? Well, I will forgive you all today," replied the towering Thunder Man. "I will show you all around."

"My thunder drum is right near-by. You'll very shortly see how I can make a lot of thunder roll. Oh it's an awful sound."

"We know it is," said Duncy. "We all heard a lot of noise, you see, when we were pounding on your home, to try and bring you out."

"Say, that was quiet," said the man, "compared with all the noise I can make with my real drum. You soon will agree with me, no doubt."

He led them back into the tree and then exclaimed, "Look, if you please! Some folks call that a kettle drum, but it's a thunder drum."

"The noise from it rolls through the sky. Come on, lads, who would like to try to swing the monstrous drumsticks, so as to make the big thing hum?"

"Two of the Tynies cried, 'We would! We'll try to do just as we should.' And then they swung the drumsticks till it seemed that they would break."

The Thunder Man cried, "That's fine boys. Pound harder, though, and make more noise." "Oh, that's enough," cried Goldy. "It already makes me shake."

(The Thunder Man makes real lightning in the next story.)

For our lesson in economics today, let's consider the question of supply and demand. Now, suppose one of the largest manufacturers in a competitive industry should suddenly decide not to continue operating. And suppose the public demand for the product was not lessened. Would labor be hit if the remaining manufacturers kept up the work of supplying the demand?

Pretty soon now, we'll see the familiar warning: "30 Shopping Days Till Christmas." Which reminds me of one of Percy Crosby's drawings. It is Christmas Eve and cold. A little boy and his father are passing by a warmly lighted toy shop window. The little fellow looks up into his father's face and says: "Do you suppose you'll be working by next Christmas, Pop?"

FOR THAT TIRED FEELING

Today's prescription for "that tired feeling" usually consists of a mild stimulant. In the near future however, it is quite possible that the remedy will consist of a bit of suprarenal cortex extract.

For, according to Dr. J. H. Robbins, patients presenting vague symptoms, such as low blood pressure, fatigue, depression and gastro-intestinal disturbances, may be suffering from a temporary failure of the adrenal glands.

The adrenal, or, as they are sometimes called, the suprarenal glands, are two small glands of internal secretion situated above the kidneys. The glands have two principal parts, the outer portion called medullary, and the inner portion called cortical.

The medullary part secretes ad-

Clubs and Bullets End Arab Riot in Palestine

Galloping through the streets of Jaffa, Palestine, swinging long clubs at turbaned Arabs, finally opening fire as some of the 8000 rioters themselves drew guns, British police finally quelled one of the bloodiest of the anti-Jewish demonstrations in the Holy Land. This picture, rushed by airplane to London and transmitted to this country by Bartlane process over Western Union cables, shows police dispersing a group of Arabs in hand-to-hand fighting. Note the wounded at upper left. Twelve were killed and 110 wounded in the two-hour battle which began as an Arab protest against increasing Jewish immigration.

renalin, about which a good deal is known. The cortical part secretes a substance known as cortin.

Cortin has been applied with extraordinary results in a condition known as Addison's disease. In Addison's disease the suprarenal gland are injured, sometimes by a tuberculous process.

However, cortin does not cure Addison's disease. It is merely a substitute treatment. In which a glandular secretion is injected artificially to take the place of that which would have been secreted were the gland normal.

Clinical support of this belief that there may also be some similarity in the effects produced by cortin and by vitamin C is to be found in the report of one clinician who used vitamin C in treatment of Addison's disease.

This disease produces a characteristic discoloration of the skin which the above referred to clinician reports he was able to cure by feeding the patient lemons. Lemons, as is known, are rich in vitamin C.

MEN OR MOBS

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

Are we to be ruled by men or mobs, in the future? By brains or ballyhoo? By intelligent principles or unscrupulous propaganda? Must government itself become organized gangsterism? Many must be asking these questions, as they look at the world as it is.

The fate of half of Europe is in the hands of a few determined men, called Dictators. They justify their seizure of power by pointing to the breakdown of order, the bankruptcy of democracy. It was merely an emergency measure, but it soon fastened fetters on the nations.

Now Communist, now Fascist, now Hitlerist, it is all the same in the end. The Colored-Shirt Mind, no matter what color it may wear, holds a common creed. The state is supreme; no power exists above it. Here lies the final justification, such as it is of the new tyranny.

Uniforms mean uniformity. All must dress alike, think alike, no deviation is tolerated. A minority is a menace, and must be crushed by fists and big sticks. Hence storm-troops and shock-squads, and the ruthless methods by which free minds are beaten, broken and subdued. In the past the minority has been the hope of mankind; but not now!

The times are ripe for such regimentation of man. It is the age of the herd-mind, of the crowd. We move in mass, think in mass, even marry in mass, as we see in Germany of late. It is the age of the mob, of mass psychology and catch phrases, of hectic emotion. If any group gets in the way of the crowd, a steamroller runs over it.

If anyone suggested that the long era of religious toleration is near its close, he would be thought mad. Yet it may easily be so. If a few men are allowed to dictate what we shall eat, wear, think, and do, their next step will be to say what we shall believe.

If this mob-philosophy is right, our fathers were wrong. They said that God is above the state, and that there is that in man over which the state has, and can have no control. Democracy has its faults and failings, but are we ready for a ruthless mobocracy?

ARMISTICE DAY

TODAY we pay homage to the men who on a distant field and in a country far from home offered their very lives in the service of our Country. Fifteen years is time enough to mellow a grief or dim the memory of an heroic deed. In the swift rush of years we adjust ourselves to the actualities of the moment. But it is not right that we should forget what has gone before. For it is on the struggles of the past and the dreams of the future that we build today.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DAVID BANNISTER, a star, returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a year. He is trying to forget ADELE ALLEN, film actress, who killed him.

Bannister dines with JIM PAXTON, an old friend, now editor of the Tremont Post. They talk about the days when both were reporters. Bannister leaves Paxton and takes a cab. Passing the Shelby Arms, apartment hotel, the cab is halted by a traffic light. A girl comes out of the hotel, sees the cab and rushes toward it. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed. He offers her the cab and she agrees to ride with him to her destination. The girl drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

IN a moment more they had passed the street light. Bannister stared at the girl but in the darkness her features were only vaguely outlined. He said, "This is yours, isn't it?" and held out the revolver.

Her "Thank you" was low pitched but clear-voiced. She slipped the gun back into her hand bag.

"If that thing happens to be loaded," Bannister said with some feeling, "I hope you'll be careful with it."

"Oh, it's not loaded!"

But was it? She might have given the same answer even though the cylinder was filled with bullets. She might—and probably would—have said the same thing if she didn't want a complete stranger wondering why she was going about carrying a loaded revolver in her handbag.

Bannister looked at the girl again closely. Suddenly he wanted very much to know who she was. He wanted to know why she had come out alone on this stormy evening, why she was going to the Hotel Tremont. He felt almost as though he were being swept into an adventure.

But that was nonsense. "Her name's probably Hattie Smith," he told himself. "She's late for a date with her boy friend who's a collector for the gas company and she forgot her umbrella."

He didn't believe any of those things but he wanted to curb the suddenly rising exhilaration he felt. Exhilaration, alas, that was doomed to be short-lived, sure to be disappointed.

He turned again, this time catching the girl's quick, side-wise glance, and knew she had been watching him. Bannister said, with an attempt at casual pleasantry, "Well, we might talk about the weather. I got quite a bit of it—the weather, I mean—down my neck, standing there in the street."

"I'm sorry," the girl told him. Her voice trembled. There was no doubt of it now. "I didn't know it was your cab. I didn't know there was anyone—"

"Of course you didn't," Bannister interrupted. "But there's certainly no reason why two people shouldn't ride in a cab made to hold five. As a matter of fact, I like company!"

That was a mistake; he could tell it instantly. The girl did not draw away. There was no increasing of the distance between them, but she seemed all at once to become remote. He noticed then that she was sitting rigidly, clutching the handbag with both hands.

Well, damn it, she didn't need to be afraid of him! If she didn't want to talk he certainly wasn't going to try to make her.

Unexplainably Bannister was annoyed. They rode in silence for several blocks after that. They had reached the business district and the streets had grown wider, brighter. Presently the cab rounded

POSTAL BOWLERS HOLD CITY LOOP LEAD THIS WEEK

Tilton Sets New Singles Record With A Game Of 255 Pins

Individual and team records are getting up into big figures in the City Bowling League lately, the last record of note being the big single count of 255 cracked up by Andrew Tilton of the Postoffice squad in the week's games at the Recreation Alleys. The Postoffice team won two more games from the National Tea Store and is now leading the league by three games, with 11 victories marked to their credit against 4 defeats.

Another individual record was established in the new series total by Edward Worley of Brady's Villagers, with 638 pins. Worley beat his own record of 611 bowled early this season, and now has a ten point lead in individual averages for the City League with 199.5 for 15 games.

The Postoffice bowlers still hold their high team series record of 3014, and high team single game of 1069, rolled last week.

Four teams are tied for second place, namely, Fallstrom Florists, Kroger Stores, Hayden's Service, and Borden's Condensers, all of whom have won 2 and lost 7.

Brownies Punks hold down third with 7 wins and 8 defeats.

Brady's Villagers have won 6 and lost 9 a date.

The National Tea Store have a winning column of 5 games and have been defeated in 10 games to date.

Lawrence Poole of Borden's Condensory holds second place in individual averages with 189.3 for 12 games.

Alexander Knick of Brady's Villagers is averaging 185.2 at present and claims third place in that event.

Chester V. Chapman of Brownies Punks, possesses fourth with an average of 184.7 for 12 games.

Robert Harridge also a Brownie, holds an average of 184.7, and is in a tie with Chapman.

Bannister said, "This is yours, isn't it?" and held out the revolver.

ed a corner and the marquee above the hotel entrance, lined by electric bulbs, came into view. A moment more and the cab had halted there.

Bannister was on the sidewalk instantly. He put out a hand for the girl but she ignored it. In the strong glow of the electricity she stepped forward—a slender, green-clad figure. "Thank you," she said, turning to the man. "Thank you so much!"

Just for an instant his eyes met hers—gray eyes, wide-set beneath dark lashes. But David Bannister noticed neither the color of those eyes or their shape. He knew as he looked into that face—so strangely white, so strangely tense—that he was looking into tragedy.

Then the girl in the green suit was gone.

THERE was the fragrance of freshly baked muffins and crisp, browned sausages over the breakfast table, to which was added one more pungent aroma as Kate Hewitt poured coffee into cups of egg-shell porcelain.

"I didn't hear you come in last night, David," she said primly.

"That's because I was here before you were."

"Oh?" His aunt's tone showed surprise. "Well, I guess it was late when I got here," she admitted. Aunt Kate looked the soul of placid domesticity.

"How was the picture?" he asked.

"Well, I've seen better," Aunt Kate said critically. "The acting was all right but I didn't think so much of the plot. It was about a girl who fell in with a gang of crooks and then shot a man because she didn't know she loved him—until afterward. Then she found it out and went to prison and reformed. Kind of silly I thought!"

Aunt Kate went on, naming the star of the picture. "She was awfully good in the sad parts," she said. "I didn't care much for the rest of it, though. The leading man was a new one I've never seen before. Had a kind of funny way he parted his hair. I don't think I like him much—"

She chattered on. David discovered that he was not listening and then presently heard her words again.

"The reason I didn't get home sooner," Aunt Kate was saying, "was because I stayed to see the vaudeville acts. I missed them the first time and I wanted to see Tracy King. He's the young fellow who leads the band, you know. Master of ceremonies, they call him. Well, sir—he didn't show up at all!"

"What was the matter?"

"I'm sure I don't know!" Another young fellow came out on the stage and just said that Mr. King wouldn't be there. So they went ahead without him."

"Aunt Kate, are you trying to tell me that you've fallen for one of those sleek-haired masters of ceremony? At your age? I'm surprised at you!"

HIS aunt's gaze held sharp rebuke. "I haven't fallen for him," as you put it," she said, "but somebody else has. That's the reason I wanted to get a good look at him. You remember Denise Lang, don't you? She must have been in short dresses when you were here last. A little thing with light curly hair and blue eyes—"

"You mean the Lang that makes the hair tonic and patent medicine and had the big house out on Sheridan Road? Didn't know he had a daughter."

"Well, he has. She's grown into a beautiful young woman, too. Denise must be about 18—no, I guess she's 19. She's an only child. Her mother died when she was a little tot. Well, last week her engagement was announced to this Tracy King!"

"The orchestra leader?" Bannister whistled softly. "Lang must be worth close to a million, isn't he?"

"More like two million, I guess," Kate Hewitt shrugged. "At least he used to be. Maybe he's lost some of it lately. I should think it would just about break the man's heart to have Denise marry anybody like that!"

"And maybe he's not so good either. I'm not saying anything against anyone, but a young man like that is no match for Denise Lang, the richest and prettiest girl in Tremont! I guess there have been plenty of others crazy about this young fellow though. Lilly Evans was talking about it the other day. They invited him to the parties out at the Country Club and all that. I've seen him once or twice but I never paid much attention to him. That's why I wanted to get a good look at him last night. It just makes me sorry for Arthur Lang! A girl like that, raised with every advantage! But I suppose she's used to having her own way—"

The sausages and muffins had been consumed. David, finishing his second cup of coffee, glanced about the room uncomfortably.

"Want the paper, don't you?" he aunt volunteered. "I forgot to bring it in. Go and get it, David."

He arose, disappeared into the hall and then was back with the folded newspaper under his arm. Still standing, he spread out the pages.

His aunt heard his short, sharp ejaculation and turned.

"What is it?" she demanded. "What's the matter?"

David Bannister thrust the newspaper before her. "Guess your orchestra leader was murdered last night," he told her. "Look at this!"

The glaring headlines read: "TRACY KING, BAND LEADER, SLAIN IN HOTEL." But it was not at that headline Bannister was staring. His eyes were fixed on two lines in smaller type below.

CLEANERS UPSET DOPE AND DEFEAT SCOTTY'S HOPPERS

Loss Of Three Games Drops Scotties To Third Position

Upses occurred with great rapidity in the Classic Bowling League this week. The Quality Cleaners came through after a long spell of defeat, by trouncing the league leading Scotty's Hop Inn team all three games, and giving the None Suchs, formerly United Cigar store team a one game lead in team standings, they having defeated the Budweisers in a very hotly contested series of games, which the Budweisers lost by very small margins.

In spite of all the heavy bombarding of the maples this week, the Scotty's Inn high team single game of 1068 still stands as high, as well as their big team series total of 3035.

Forrest Suter of the Budweiser team collected the largest single count for the league thus far on Wednesday night, when he bowled over 247 pins his last game.

Edward Worley, also of the Budweisers, hit a new high for individual series with 643, giving him undisputed possession of first place in individual averages with 201.8 for 18 games.

Second place in team standings is held by the Illinois Northern Utilities Company which won all three from the Walnut Grove and now have won 13 games and lost 5.

The Scotty's Hop Inn holds third place with 12 wins and 6 defeats.

The Budweisers dropped to fourth this week as a result of dropping three hard games to the None Suchs. Won 9, lost 9.

The Walnut Grove Products lost three this week and now hold fifth place with 8 wins and 16 defeats.

The Quality Cleaners came up out of the cellar this week, and now have a winning column of 6 and defeats to date number 12.

Phillips 66 won two games and seem to have recovered from their slump. They are tied with Beier's Loafers with 5 wins and 13 lost.

Frank Cleary collected a big series of 620 for the None Suchs Foods and bopped 24 in individual average up to 196 for 15 games. Cleary holding second place at present.

Forest Suter rolled 514 this week and now claims third place in the individual average column with 189.13 for 18 games.

Edwin Detweiler collected 525 this week, to hold fourth place with 186.13 for 18 games.

Frank McManahan of the Budweisers came through with 575 this week and is claimant of fifth place with 183.16 for 18 games.

SOVIET'S MESSENGER-OF-STATE CHEERFUL "UNDER FIRE" BY CAMERAMEN

A white scarf at his throat, his brownish red hair ruffled by the wind, Maxim Litvinoff, Russia's chubby, genial Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, looked forward seriously to his conversations with President Roosevelt on recognition. . . .

But then he reminds himself of a hope he voiced back in 1922, when he said, "The only trip that could give me a thrill of pleasure would be a diplomatic mission to the United States." Now it seems that his dream of recognition might come true after all.

And to arrive in Washington on the 16th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia. . . . Well, this is indeed a happy coincidence! Besides, his is the distinction of being the first Communist state official to arrive at the capital since the World War.

Spurred by the White House when offered as Soviet Ambassador to the U. S. in 1918, Litvinoff ("Europe's shrewdest diplomat") hopes now, with the aid of the President, to close the 16-year breach between his country and the United States.

Woman's Club Notes The Woman's Club met Monday with Mrs. F. M. Banker. Roll call was current events, and was of much interest. After a short business session, the program of the day opened with two violin duets given by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Bocher with Miss Helen Blocher accompanying. The music was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. E. R. Buck club president, then introduced the Lee County Club Chairman, Mrs. Dee Thompson of Compton, who spoke briefly concerning the value of County Federation of clubs. Her main theme was "Schools as a Club for Study" and she suggested many ways in which club members might and should inform themselves concerning the needs of our schools.

Then came the introduction of Mrs. Harry L. Heer, president of the Thirtieth District Federation who talked on the history and the work of federated clubs. She told of the system of federation, beginning with the General Federation, which includes sixty-two separate organizations located in twenty-four different counties, which, of course, vary in size, make-up, activities, etc., yet they all have the same general aim that of bettering conditions everywhere—home, community and state.

In this county, there are State Federations, and again the states are divided into districts, each has its District Federation. In Illinois, the districts coincide with the Congressional Districts, there being twenty-five in the state, and the six counties of the northwest section form the Thirtieth. Many counties, too, though not all, have a County Federation which completes the chain uniting the great General Federation and the local club, large or small.

She spoke of the value of federation, in that by united effort of informed women, goals can often be reached which would be impossible through individual effort, no matter how sincere.

She told also of some of the various lines of interest in club organization, which was included in the club motto: "Study, Service, Sociability." Also of the slogan adopted by Illinois Clubs for this year: "Inform Ourselves." Everyone present felt sure that Mrs. Heer is practicing that slogan, for her fund of information seemed almost limitless.

She urged that each club member learn something about the work of each of the nineteen different departments of club work by shifting the study each year, thus eventually making of each member an informed member.

She stressed the paramount importance of making the best use of leisure time.

Altogether everyone present felt that the afternoon had been one of much profit and pleasure, and after a short social period with delicious refreshments served by the social committee, Mrs. Harry Kint, Mrs. James Lincoln and Mrs. F. M. Banker, and many words of appreciation of the presence and help of Mrs. Heer and Mrs. Thompson, the club adjourned to meet December 4th, with Mrs. T. W. Brown.

Obituary Harriet Rebecca Brown was born in Lee Center, Ill., Nov. 22, 1850. She was educated in the public schools of Franklin Grove, where her parents moved when she was a very little girl. All of her girlhood was spent at this place.

When eighteen years of age, she was united in marriage to Mathias J. Blair. To them were born two sons, DeWitt Carlton and Earl Raymond. After some years, she moved with her family to Minden, Iowa, later returning to Franklin Grove, residing here several years, then moving to Chicago.

Since the death of her husband, she had made her home much of the time with her son Earl, in Cleveland, Ohio. For the past two years she spent a large part of the time with her sister, Miss Charlotte in Dixon, and with her son Carl, in Wheaton.

She was affiliated with the Presbyterian church in Franklin Grove, Ill., and was a lovely Christian character—quiet, unassuming and gentle. Her smile and happy nature was reflected in her treatment of all whom she met and this splendid trait remains a lovely memory.

Those who mourn her passing, besides a host of friends are: her two sons, her sister, five grandchildren and one little great-granddaughter.

"He giveth His beloved sleep"

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Rev. F. W. Henke of the St. Paul Lutheran church had charge of

When starlight blends with morning hue, I miss thee as the flower does the dew.

When noon-days' lengthening shadows creep—I think of thee; I think of thee.

With evening memories re-appear I watch thy chair and with thee here;

Till sleep sets drooping fancy free. Since first we met, in weal or woe It hath been thus and must be so Till bursting bonds our spirits part.

And love divine doth fill my heart! Funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon, Rev. C. P. Blekking having charge of the services. Burial was in Franklin cemetery.

Obituary Daniel Worley was born in the province of Alsace-Lorraine, Germany, on September 10, 1848, and died at his home in Franklin Grove, Ill., Nov. 7, 1933, having attained the age of 85 years, 1 month and 23 days.

At the age of four years he came, with his parents, to America, first settling in New York state where he grew to manhood. In 1872, he came to Illinois, living at Ashton for about six years, then moving to the vicinity of Franklin Grove, where he spent the remainder of his long life, residing first on a farm west of here, then coming to town, where he had since resided with his wife. Over forty-four years he spent in this community.

In early infancy, he was baptized and after attaining the proper age he was confirmed in New York in the saving doctrines of the Holy Scriptures, by which he became a member of the Lutheran church.

In the year 1872, on April 11th, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Weblor of Lyons, New York. One child, a son, preceded his father in death twelve years ago. Mr. Worley enjoyed good health, until about a week ago, when he began ailing, although he was able to be up and around his home all the time. A physician was summoned and diagnosed his case as liver and heart trouble. The night prior to his demise he attended the furnace in his home and spoke of the fact that he felt much better in health. Tuesday morning at eight o'clock, Mrs. Walker, a daughter, found him dead in bed the doctor claiming that death had called a half hour before that time.

The deceased was a well-liked neighbor and a good friend. He leaves to mourn his loss: his deeply bereaved widow and two daughters, Mrs. Christina Walker and Miss Mary Worley, both of Franklin Grove.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Rev. F. W. Henke of the St. Paul Lutheran church had charge of the services. Interment was in the Franklin cemetery.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 14th, at 6:30 P. M., a supper for the men will be held in our church, including the men from the Ashton, Dixon and Franklin Grove Presbyterian churches. A program will be given following the supper.

What significance does Armistice Day have to us? Will we magnify war or peace? War is not an element in human nature. The common people do not want war. War is the product of a political program, on the part of each nation.

The newer patriotism should be a demand for peace and the peaceful settlement of international disputes. We must think peace and work for peace among all nations. C. P. Blekking, Minister.

Crime to Pay a Ransom Technically it is a crime to pay a ransom. It is compounding a felony. Kidnaping is a crime against the state and any person who aids and encourages the crime by rewarding it with payment of ransom is guilty of law infraction. In practice, prosecuting attorneys wink at this crime because of the human equation involved.
